Termination of dataDirector customers

The Directors wish to advise that Raw Capital Partners Limited has moved to terminate the provision of all services relating to its dataDirector product. The Board's decision will allow the company to concentrate on other areas of its business, including projects that the Directors believe have greater prospect of enhancing company value for all shareholders.

dataDirector is a loss generating division. It contributes to approximately 11% of year to date revenue but the division's loss contributes to 13% of year to date Net Loss. Capitalised development costs, all of which relate to dataDirector, were written off during the half yearly audit. The impact of the termination of all dataDirector customers is deemed by the Directors to have minimal impact on the balance sheet.

In accordance with the terms of its services arrangements with dataDirector customers, Raw Capital Partners has provided all customers with notice of its intention to terminate, and is working closely with those customers to assist with wind-up and transitional arrangements as necessary.
